MUST REGISTER TO MAINTAIN SUFFRAGE

All Must Comply With The Law Imposed or Lose Voting Rights---Measure Before
Court of Appeals.

The Act passed by the last Legislature, over the veto of Governor Morrow forces every man and woman within the State to go to their regular voting places and register, either on the 10th or 11th of July, provided they do not wish to lose their rights of suffrage.

The law was not desired by the people, neither can it serve any good interest of the State or of the people. It was simply thrust upon us by the recent Democratic Legislature and notwithstanding the unnecessary hardships and burden thereby placed upon the men and women of Ohio County and the remainder of our State, there is no choice in the matter. YOU MUST REGISTER OR BE DIS-FRANCHISED.

Republicans throughout the County should see to it, that no voter of their faith neglects this newly imposed, qualifying right to continued suffrage. Don't wait until the eleventh of July to register, do it on the TENTH. Two days have been designated, but the first is the better date.

Republicans sought to have the obnoxious act declared unconstitutional, but Judge Stout of the Franklin County Circuit Court, a Democrat, before whom the hearing was had, declared the law must stand. So, as the matter remains, we must register, go out to the polling places, answer a lot of questions have the color of our eyes, hair, complexion, signature and other stuff recorded.

The registration law enacted by the Democrats will cost the Taxpayers of Ohio County more than $2,400 this year and it must be repeated once each year hereafter.

EDUCATOR COMMENDS PRESS, STUDENT AID

Careful Reading of Newspapers Recommended For Wide Knowledge.

Washington, June 22 (Capital News Service).—"Readers of the daily and weekly press of the country who pay careful attention to the trend of the times find in the collection of odd stories and unique happenings from the four quarters of the globe an inspiration and an education." So states Prof. Carleton Gregory, of Washington, and adduces as proof of his contention the fact that a single issue of one paper gives information regarding law, church politics, crime, religion, science, adventure, finance, music, art, and inspiration. The issue referred to contains the following headlines (among others):

"Hubber and Auto Gas Made from Corncohs"; "Prints Taken from Cow's Noses Afford 'Finger Print' Identification for Breeders"; "Juror Husband Votes Wife Divorce; Valid, Say Lawyers"; "Keep Jewelry in Shoes, Loses $4,000 Worth When Shoes Go To Be Mended"; "Doyle Exhibits Spirit Letter from Mother"; "Divers Seek Gold in Lutanla"; "Office Boy and Day Laborer Rise to $30,000 Salaries."

"No man is educated merely because he graduates from an institution of education," continued Prof. Gregory. "Education is never to be finished. Wise readers of the daily press can win for themselves a wide knowledge of facts which make the learned man wiser and the wise man learned."

SIMMERMAN-BARNHILL

A flutter of excitement swept the social circles of Hartford when it was announced that Miss Winnie Davis Simmerman and Mr. Roy Barnhill had been quietly married June 21st, by Rev. T. T. Frazier at the Methodist parsonage. Miss Simmerman is the only child of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Lee Simmerman and granddaughter of Mr. J. W. Ford. She is a graduate of Ward-Belmont College, Nashville, Tenn. and a favorite in a large social circle. Mr. Barnhill is a graduate of the University of Kentucky, and holds a lucrative position with the Swift Packing Co., with headquarters at Madisonville. The happy couple left immediately on a short motor trip.

The Republican, with Miss Winnie's host of friends, join in congratulations and fervent wishes for a future of prosperity and happiness.

BASEBALL BRIEFS AND FOULED TIPS

Everley's boys of Rockport, white-washed Beaver Dam's new park Sunday by the score of 5 to 0. The batteries for Rockport, Her and Skinner, while Stevens and Glenn did the big work for the Beavers. This was one of the fastest games played this year. Young Her, the Rockport heaver, allowed the Beavers only two hits. This was Her's first time to appear on the mound for Rockport, but his strong arm, great head and air-tight backing caused manager Leach's boys to go down in defeat.

In the last half of the ninth it looked as tho the Beavers were sure for a run. Westerfield was on first and no outs, but Her tightened up and left Alford at home, then pinch-hitter Barnes shot a line-drive into Her's mit which he drove to second to Green and he to first, making a double. Manager Leach left the park and had nothing to say.

Rockport's second team whipped Wysox to the tune of 13 to 12 on Rockport's park, on Green River, Sunday, in a very nice game. Batteries for Rockport, Fulkerson and Smith; Wysox, Davenport and Overton.

Manager Everley and his boys will play Lettchfield next Sunday, at Lettchfield. There will probably be an extra coach on 122 for this game and Sunday rates will also be effective.

Hartford and Beaver Dam staged a five-inning game at Riverside Park Saturday afternoon. The rain man stopped the fraens in that act, at which time the score stood 5 to 2 in favor of the Riversiders. The batteries, for Hartford: Lefty Tinsley and Glenn; Beaver Dam, Slim Hoover and H. Monroe. Tinsley was somewhat wild in the fifth walking the first two men up, though he dug-out without much material damage being done to the score board.

Hartford is to have Morgantown's fast team here Sunday and "some" game may be expected on this occasion.

A couple of Hartford's junior teams journeyed to Sulphur Springs Sunday where both lost to the teams of that place, one by the score of what we have heard estimated as being all the way from nothing to 14 or 15 up to 29. The other team faced better losing to the Springers by 8 to 9.

Calhoun's dark colored team came up Sunday for a set-to with the local colored nine, that is the Calhouners were nearly dark, they showed a broad "yaller" streak in the last half of the fourth when they gathered up their equipment and "vamoosed" in rebellion to a decision of their own nmpire, ending a long liner bated in right field by a local batsman, a fair ball. The score, when the hags were cleared and the home run came in stood 10 to 2 against the invaders. Cooms and W. Parks worked for the locals. We don't know who did it for Calhoun, they get away too quick.

Mellenry's team made a pilgrimage to Central City Sunday, and literally scalped the boys of the halfway place, the score being 10 to 1 in favor of the Mellenry Majesties. Parrot and Phelps worked at the crucial pivots for Mellenry.

Rosine played Horton Sunday on the former's ground, and defeated the visitors by the score of 26 to 7.

The Rosine boys will play a double-header next Sunday on the Rosine Diamond. Rosine will first play Sulphur Springs and then Horton.

DELBERT WHITTAKER LOSES LIFE IN RIVER

Body In Water Two Hours Before Recovered By Divers.

Delbert Whittaker, who would have been 19 years old October 18, next, was drowned Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock, at Rochester, while in bathing in Green River. It is not known whether he was seized with cramps or became strangled due to considerable waves made by the passage of a boat while young Whittaker and a number of other parties were swimming in the river. The body was recovered two hours later by divers.

The young man was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Whittaker of near Barnett's Creek. He, together with his young wife, had but recently gone to Rochester where he had opened a bathing beach and restaurant for the summer. He was a student in attendance of the Hartford High School during the year 1920-21. He was a member of the Barnett's Creek Baptist Church. His many friends here and in his home country held him in high esteem.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Russell Walker of Hartford, at the Mt. Hermon Methodist Church and the remains buried in the church cemetery yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Besides his parents and young wife he is survived by three brothers and one sister.

THOMAS-WEISBECKER

Miss Arlie Marlam Thomas and Mr. John G. Weisbecker, each of Louisville, were joined in marriage at the St. Louis Bertrand Catholic Church, of that city, Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock of this week. Rev. Father Lyons officiating. After the ceremony the young couple repaired with attendants and a small party of friends to the home of the bride where a wedding breakfast was served. Later in the day Mr. and Mrs. Weisbecker left for a two weeks' honeymoon trip to the north. They will reside in Louisville.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Thomas, who formerly resided in Hartford and in Narrows, and is an attractive and lovable young lady. She but recently completed her freshmen year in the University of Louisville. Mr. Weisbecker is a young man 22 years of age, of high class and sterling worth, and descendent from a splendid family. He recently completed an enlistment service with the U. S. Navy.

We, together with the innumerable friends of the young bride wish that the pathway of the happy young couple may be void of sorrow and rough places throughout the journey upon which they have set sail.

BEADS ODDLY STRUNG

(By I. D. Claiborne.)

Ed Barrass was in Louisville the first of the week, but Missus Barrass need not feel a bit of anxiety about how he conducted himself; he was out with me.

An old-fashioned country-raised father attending a modern city church wedding of a daughter feels about as much out of place as a tree frog in a prairie. I know.

Buddy McPheng says that if congress wants to do the greatest good to the greatest number of people it should soften down the Volstead laws.

I would get a lot homesicker than I do if I didn't so often meet some ex-Ohio countians who live here. Almost everyday I run into Alvis Bennett, Specks Her, John Moore, Ernest Woodward or Gus Ford.

Speaking of Gus Ford reminds me that Gus ain't what he used to be when he was tiggering around Hayti. I see him on the street here, dressed spick and span, with an insurance rat' book and a bundle of blank policies under his arm, and he looks like a surecut business man.

Just as I predicted, the issue of the Republican last week was the best one since Fluke was in Louisville before.

Twenty-eight people have been killed by automobiles in this city since the New Year, which sets me to wondering if the pleasure and convenience of people who use machiaes actually equals in value this large number of human lives. Anyway, the slaughter will go on.

A woman old and bent, her face furrowed by the tears of time and her hair bleached with age yet luxuriant with massive curls, had often attracted my attention on the street. I commented upon this strange appearance to a woman fairer and younger than she, and was amazed at the story she told me. Away back when the guns at Sumpter thundered the approach of war she, strong in youth and rich in beauty, listened with pleased attention to a young soldier's compliments on her beautiful curls, and promised him she would not have them cut before he returned from the war. He never returned, and these snowy curls are the seal of the finest devotion of a woman's heart. It has been my chance to know. I pass her with a feeling of reverence now. There are few, indeed, of her kind.

Perhaps it is the fault of my early training, or rather lack of training, but I get tired of this high-toned church music I have to listen to every Sunday. I am so weary of teletype-la-las that I should be glad again to hear an old-time backwoods congregation sing "Amazing Grace" or "How Firm a Foundation." Ye Sins of the Lord." But maybe I'm gettin' old and childish.

HAMILTON-BALLARD

Miss Rvesta Ethel Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Hamilton, of near Rough River Locks and Mr. Everett E. Ballard of Louisville, were joined in marriage yesterday at the bride's home.

The bride is an attractive and accomplished lady. Mr. Ballard is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Quinton Ballard and formerly attended the Hartford High School and resided near this place. He is a veteran of the world war. Upon his return thereafter, he accepted a position as managing director of the Boys Scouts' organization in Louisville, which place he relinquished to accept a traveling salesmanship for a Louisville concern.

AGED LADY DIES

Mrs. Elizabeth Berry died at her home in Hartford, Monday afternoon of nephritis. She had been in ailing health for some time. She is survived by two sons, Wm. E. and Henry D. Berry and one daughter, Mrs. Barrett Russell, each of whom reside in this city.

Mrs. Berry was 75 years of age, a member of the Baptist church and a lady of splendid character. Accompanied by her two sons and daughter the remains were conveyed to Smithfield Henry County, where she was born and reared, and where funeral services were held and burial took place Tuesday afternoon.

S. A. DAVENPORT

Mr. S. A. (Pos) Davenport, aged 73, died at his home in Rochester, June 19, after having been in ailing health for several years. Mr. Davenport formerly resided in Ohio County, near Wyox, and was widely known and highly respected. He was a Republican in politics and in former days was active and quite a power in his party's councils.

Mr. Davenport was a member of the Cool Springs Baptist Church, where funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon and burial took place. Besides his widow he is survived by three daughters: Mrs. T. B. Wilson, Knightsburg; Mrs. Edna Taylor, Beaver Dam; Mrs. Wm. Abercrombie, Cleaton. Also two sons, Leonard of Rochester and Carl Davenport of Tulsa, Okla.

Mr. E. G. Barrass, city, went to Louisville, Tuesday, to represent the Ohio County Republican Organization in a meeting held on that date. Mr. Barrass returned Wednesday.

FORD'S OFFER FOR SHOALS DENOUNCED

Eight Republican Members Of House
Military Committee Sign Report.

Washington, June 20.—Eight Republican members of the house military committee today signed a report submitted to the house by Representative Kearnes, of Ohio, denouncing Henry Ford's offer to purchase and lease the government's projects at Muscle Shoals, Alabama. Their action increased to four the number of reports emanating from the committee and marked another division of opinion among the twenty-one members over the question of Muscle Shoals disposition.

The eight members were Representatives Kearnes, Ohio; Morla, Carago, and Ransly, Pennsylvania; Crother, New York; Hill, Maryland; Parker, New Jersey, and Frothingham, Massachusetts.

None of the signatories to the new report was willing for congress to accept the Ford offer either as recommended recently by the so-called majority views presented by Acting Chairman McKenzie, or by those who endorsed the report written by Representative Wright, Democrat, Georgia, asking the acceptance of Mr. Ford's proposal unconditionally. The third opinion drafted by Representative Parker, Republican, New Jersey, and endorsed by Representative Frothingham, Republican, Mass., both of whom signed the Kearnes document today, was in effect merged with the new report that the Kearnes report stressed the importance of getting to the country a clear, fair and unbiased statement of facts" concerning the Ford proposal, declared that "wicked" and "naïd" propagandists were scattering propaganda throughout the country, that is often void of truth and attacked the Ford offer in a way that left none of its provisions free from hostile criticism.

Power Company's Offer.

At the same time the report asserted that the Alabama Power company, which submitted an offer to develop the power projects at Muscle Shoals, had "always dealt fairly with the government," and was offering $2,500,000 for its interests in the steam plant at Gorgess, in accordance with the terms of the contract executed with the war department when the plant was erected.

In another part the report summarized the cost prices of the projects which Mr. Ford would purchase for $5,000,000. A total expenditure of $85,343,296 was claimed on the Waco Inquiry the Gorgas steam plant and nitrate plants number one and two, while the amount offered was held to be "wholly inadequate."

Attack Ford Provisions.

Among the other provisions of the Ford offer which were attacked by the report were those proposing a lease of the water power projects for 100 years, that fixing the terms of the amortization plan for repaying the government for building dams two and three that offered $55,000 annually to the government for repair of dams, that providing the manufacturing of fertilizers during 100 years lease and the Detroit manufacturer to pay interest on the $17,000,000 already spent on the son dam.

Lengthy explanations of each of these features of the Ford offer were contained in the report which pointed out, the belief that the taxpayers of the country would revolt if congress accepted the offer and voted appropriations totalling $50,000,000 to carry out its terms.

A tabulation of the "entire cost to the taxpayers of the United States of the Muscle Shoals project up to the present time," also was presented, showing a total of $167,163,296, including $13,320,000 for interest on new money required at dams 2 and 3.

GERMANY'S IRON KING BUSY AT 80

Thyssen, Leader In Teuton Industry, Joins Octogenarians.

Berlin, June 17.—August Thyssen, one of the outstanding figures in Germany's industrial life, has entered the ranks of the octogenarians. Thyssen's chief significance lies in the fact that he was the real creator of the so-called "mixed type" in the German mining industry. He was the first man to recognize the close relationship existing between coal and iron on a large scale, and later backed up the entire iron production of Westphalia with the Minette district of Lorraine.

As early as 1867 Thyssen owned a number of small iron works which he developed into colossal enterprises, comprising practically all phases of the iron industry. His monumental work in Westphalia was the mine known under the name of the "German Kaiser" while the "Hagendingen" in Lorraine represented the highest type of modern industrial enterprise.

This valuable piece of property was lost to him as well as to German industrial world by the decision of the Versailles Treaty.

In contrast to other large mining concerns in Germany he made no effort to compensate himself for this loss by buying up remaining available German enterprises, but by the aid of the liquidation sums allowed him by the German Government, went to work to create and develop new plants in connection with his Westphalian possessions.

From a financial standpoint Thyssen has ever been an individualist. His various big enterprises were not financed by the issuance of shares, but were so organized that practically all of the stock remained in the possession of the family. This does not mean that foreign capital was excluded but only that such capital was employed in the form of credits or obligations.

Thyssen was the greatest master of credit that the German industrial world has ever known. This, however, is a talent not easily transmitted to posterity, and the time will undoubtedly come when Thyssen's gigantic holdings will have to be literally "organized," in the modern sense of the term. Only then will the world gain an accurate knowledge of the amount of capital involved in the Thyssen works.

Altho Thyssen, as well as the interests he represents, have been less in the public eye in recent years than those of younger industrial leaders—such as Hugo Stinnes, for example—and altho he held aloof from the feverish trust activity which characterized the post-war period in German industry, whether from lack of conviction in such methods or lassitude attributable to his age—his name is still one to conjure within the circles of the iron and steel industry, and his industrial possessions, both in scope and technical development, are a recognized factor in Germany's industrial life.

Booze Is Not a Good Cure.

(From the Ames Iowa Intelligencer.)

When a man comes to you all doubled up with pain and declares he will die in your presence unless you procure him a drink of whiskey, send him to a doctor or else give him a dose of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. There is a mistaken notion among a whole lot of people that booze is the best remedy for colic and stomach ache.

LINERS OF SHIPPING BOARD GET LIQUORS

Treasury Rules Sales May Be Made Beyond 3 Mile Limit.

Washington, June 16.—Sale of liquor on shipping board vessels outside the three-mile limit is permissible under new Treasury regulations issued today, according to P. A. Vise, general counsel of the prohibition unit.

This interpretation was taken as settling for the time being the controversy over liquor on government ships precipitated by Adolphus Busch III, the St. Louis brewer, when he wrote President Harding that the government was bootlegging by permitting sale of alcoholic beverages on shipping board vessels.

Solution of the problem, Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League, declared tonight, "lies in excluding all ships that sell liquor from American ports." Legislation to this end is being considered, he said.

The new regulations were not drafted with the intention of settling the question of liquor on shipping board vessels, Mr. Vise said, and in fact, were written before that question arose. As drawn however, he said, they would apply equally to American and foreign ships in permitting intoxicating sea stores within three-mile limit under the customs regulations which provide that while in American ports all liquors on board a ship must be sealed up.

Bar Liquor in Transit.

Amending the former regulations the new rules were issued "pursuant to an opinion of Acting Attorney General Nebeker, dated February 4, 1921, affirmed by Attorney General Daugherty June 30, 1921, and the decision of the United States Supreme Court in Grogan vs. Walker and the Anchor Line vs. Aldridge, rendered May 15, 1922." The new regulations which become effective today provide for the seizure of beverage liquor when in transit thru the United States.

"It is unlawful" the regulations said, "to transport liquor for beverage purposes, including in transit shipments from one foreign country to the same or another foreign country in or thru American territory, either by land or water and even tho the liquor be not landed in this country and such liquor so transported in or thru American territory will be subject to seizure and the persons transporting it, subject to prosecution. No permit for such transportation can be issued."

Expect Definite Ruling.

After providing for the transportation of nonbeverage liquor, the regulations stated that "liquors properly listed as sea stores and liquors shown by the shipping papers and vessels manifest to be and actually destined to a foreign country and going forward on the same vessel as that on which they arrived are expected from the provisions of this and will be subject only to customs regulations."

This later provision, according to Mr. Vise, was the loophole thru the results of the Supreme Court's decision holding in transit shipments which foreign passenger liners evade of beverage liquor illegal. Shipping Board vessels would be entitled to the same treatment, he declared.

It was freely predicted tonight at prohibition headquarters, however, that an early opinion would be forthcoming from Attorney General Daugherty definitely ruling on the question of liquor on American ships.

Fore the Relief of Rheumatic Pains.

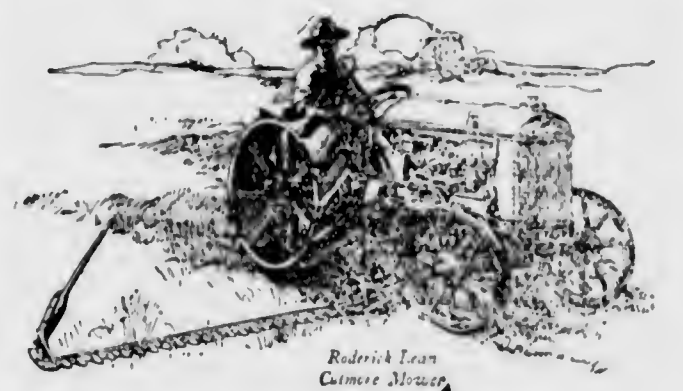

When you have stiffness and soreness of the muscles, aching joints and find it difficult to move without pain try massaging the affected parts with Chamberlain's Liniment. It will relieve the pain and make rest and sleep possible.

The teacher had asked, "Why did David say he would rather be a door-keeper in the house of the Lord?" "Because," answered a boy, "He could then walk outside while the sermon was being preached."—Boston Transcript.

TREAT COTTON LIKE WOOL

It is getting more and more difficult for a person to tell whether a suit of clothes is made of pure wool or not. Examination under the microscope is the only sure test. There is now a patent process whereby cotton is made to assume the properties of wool not only as to its feel, appearance and color qualities but chemically as well. This wool-like cotton is the product of slow decomposition of protein substances due to strong mineral acids. The cotton may be first impregnated with the liquor, the latter then squeezed out, drolizing liquid, squeezed out and and the material washed, or the fabric washed. The proteins used are casein, egg albumen, serum albumen and tions and then treated with the hy-gelatin.

Hay Making Simplified With Standard Fordson Equipment

YOU cannot afford to lose time in the haying season. There are few seasons where the weather at haying time is always ideal. That is the one time of year when speed is the essence of good farming. It is no uncommon happening for some farmers to lose several tons of hay by a delay in getting it off the ground.

This work is now speeded up by using the Fordson with the RODERICK LEAN CUTMORE MOWER. The CUTMORE is attached direct to the tractor between the front and rear wheels in the position where the driver can have perfect control over it. The power is taken from the worm gear that drives the rear wheels, so it is always even and dependable.

The CUTMORE makes hay cutting with the Fordson a one-man job. There is ample power for cutting the heaviest crops, including alfalfa, clover, vetch, velvet beans, pea hay and lespedeza.

The cutter bar may be disconnected in a few minutes, so that the tractor may be used for other work. The draw bar is always available for pulling a wagon, rake or other tool. Attached to your Fordson, the CUTMORE means greater speed and economy of handling your hay crop.

SHALL PATENT LAWS BE CHANGED, QUERY

Noted Inventor Says Not; Others
Contend Present Law
Inadequate.

Washington, June 17. (Capital News Service).—Legislators at Washington are much interested in the discussions regarding the need of revision of the present patent laws of the United States. One school of thought, which seems to be headed by Thomas Alva Edison, most noted inventor in the world, believes that the mechanical, inventive and commercial prosperity of this country, based upon the present patent system, is sufficient answer to any criticisms of existing law.

The contrary view is held by many inventors, who believe that some provision should be made requiring any holder of a patent, whether the original patentee or the purchaser of it, to make bona fide use of it within a stipulated time in order to keep title to it. They point out that homesteaders and those taking up mining claims must do a certain amount of development work to retain their claims, and that to permit a patentee or a patent purchaser to "freeze" a patent is not for the greatest good of the country. It is pointed out that many large corporations will buy a patent which, if it were manufactured, would seriously interfere with the product manufactured by the corporation. The device is then pigeon-holed to avoid the expense of changing from the old to the new way, thus depriving the country of the fruits of invention, even tho the inventor is himself reimbursed.

It is interesting to note that the Canadian patent system requires manufacture of a patent within two years; but Canada has not as yet become known as a nation prosperous through her inventions.

PRIZE HUNG BY A WEB

John D. Rockefeller of Standard Oil fame relates the following story: "As quickwitted a man as I ever knew was one of our drivers—Timothy—back in the business's early days. We liked to keep our teams looking nice, and so we instituted an annual prize for the man who could show the best-groomed horses, the cleanest stalls, the brightest harness, and so forth. Timothy seemed certain of this prize, and when midyear inspection time came, sure enough, his splendid work left nothing to be desired. But as the inspector took one last look around, just as he had made up his mind to give the prize to Timothy, he frowned for his eye had fallen on a cobweb in a dim corner of the gray mare's stall.

"Timothy saw the inspector's face change, and saw the cause of the change, and he spoke up briskly: 'I keep that there web there, boss,' he said 'to catch the flies. The way they torment the mare is supin' fierce.'"

If you have the itch, don't scratch. It does not cure the trouble and makes the skin bleed. Apply Ballard's Snow Lintment. Rub it in gently on the affected parts. It relieves itching instantly and a few applications removes the cause thus performing a permanent cure. Price 30c, 60c and 1.20 per bottle. Sold by The Ohio County Drug Co.

LAWYERESSES MAKING GOOD

According to the National Women Lawyers' Association there are about 1000 practicing women attorneys in this country, a fourth of whom can practice before the U. S. supreme court. Fourteen women have been admitted to the supreme court during the term just ended. Before a lawyer can appear before the supreme court he must have had three years practice before the supreme court of his home state and admission to the district federal court where he resides. Mrs. Mahel Willebrandt, assistant attorney-general of the United States, says: "The success of the woman lawyer is not a question of sex at all. It is a question of her fitness, learning and industry. Forget you are a woman and remember you are a lawyer." Besides Mrs. Willebrandt, there are seven women assistant attorneys attached to the department of justice.

Cut This Out and Take It With You.

A man often forgets the exact name of the article he wishes to purchase, and as a last resort takes something else instead. That is always disappointing and unsatisfactory. The safe way is to cut this out and take it with you so as to make sure of getting Chamberlain's Tablets. You will find nothing quite so satisfactory for constipation and indigestion.

HOW CZAR REACHED WAR DECISION TOLD

Memories of Countess Give Incidents Heretofore Unpublished.

Berlin, June 17.—Intimate details of the circumstances leading up to the abdication of the late Czar Nicholas II are told in the memoirs of the septuagenarian Countess Kleinmichel, whose salon in Petersburg was the rendezvous of all the leading actors who took part in the great political drama played on the stage of the czar's court during the fateful years of the war.

As the distinguished memorialist bases her recital upon facts furnished her by Count Fredericksz, the personal adjutant of the czar, there is no reason to doubt either its authenticity or accuracy.

The countess related that when in the year 1915 the czar, acting upon the advice of the empress, decided to take active command of the Russian troops, Fredericksz summoned up the courage to say to him:

"Your majesty, I implore you to do nothing of the kind. The laurels which your majesty hopes to win will soon be transferred into thorns."

"In other words, you think me incapable," replied the czar, with an injured accent.

Silence Of War.

"I am going to be perfectly frank with you, majesty. The silence of war must be seriously studied and then put into active practice. In reality, the only practical experience you have had was in commanding a battalion of the Guard Hussars. You were about to be given the command of a regiment when fate called you to the throne. This preparation is entirely inadequate, particularly in time of war."

"You overlook the fact that I have constantly occupied myself with maneuvers and matters of military administration," said the czar, "and in any case I shall have General Russki as my aide, whose knowledge and authority is unquestioned."

"Be that as it may! But permit me as your humble and devoted servant to implore you once more not to assume this responsibility. Place the chief command in the hands of General Russki, or any other general you think fit, but do not desert Petersburg."

"Do not deprive yourself of the possibility of exercising your right of criticism and do not lay yourself open to criticism. As commander-in-chief you would be held responsible for our defeat, and God only knows what it would all lead to."

Czar Argues Point.

In reply the czar argued: "The people love me as does also the army, and I feel myself perfectly safe in their midst. Moreover, my mind is made up."

Two hours later Fredericksz was called to the empress, who he found in an indignant mood.

"The czar has told me of your conversation. Why was it necessary to excite him to such a degree just at a moment when he is in need of his utmost strength and energy?"

"I acted only at the bidding of my conscience," he assured. "I consider his decision a most portentous one, as he will no longer be the monarch, the anointed one, but the commander-in-chief, at the mercy of every one's criticism."

"You would undoubtedly have preferred to see Grand Duke Nikolaus wrest his power from him piece by piece and fragment by fragment, under the pretext that it was made by request of the General Headquarters, to which everything must be subordinated," the empress declared.

"The grand duke demands that the ministers should go to Baron Witschi, the better to co-operate with the military authorities. He is wrestling from the czar his authority in all branches of the government, and his commands are frequently met by his ministers with the excuse that it would be necessary first to take counsel with the grand duke."

"These conditions are unbearable. His majesty is in reality gradually being deposed, and I can see the moment approaching when his throne will be usurped by the grand duke. You say he should depose the grand duke and put Russki, Alexjew, or Brussloff in his place! But you know his character too well to believe such a thing possible. Unfortunately, he has always feared his uncle. He would not be able to defend himself against the opposition he would be sure to meet from the grand duke."

"No, the only solution for him is to take over the chief command. Believe me when I say that I have thought this all out, in more than one sleepless night. And even tho we should meet with great opposition in court circles and in military headquarters, that is to say, among the creatures of the grand duke, I am still convinced that we would have the army and the people with us."

The old Fredericksz told many of the details of the czar's abdication. He said the latter was extremely vacillating, and was finally only persuaded to place his signature under the document by brutal treatment on the part of General Russki, who took him by the arm, thrust the paper into his hand and said:

"Sign this, sign it, I say! Can you not see that nothing else remains for you to do? If you do not abdicate, I can not be responsible for your life."

Rebuked by General.

Fredericksz endeavored to intervene, whereupon Russki turned on him, saying:

"I am not speaking to you. Your place is no longer here. The czar should have known long ago that the proper persons to have about him were Russians and not Baltic harpists."

Countess Kleinmichel gives an account of the manner in which the czar was coerced into signing the papers of mobilization. She writes:

"His genuine love of peace was gradually undermined by the representatives of Suchomlinow, his minister of war, as to the glory and prestige to be gained by waging a successful war. The Grand Duke Nikolaus was working for the same end, but it was Sassonow who gave the final impetus by declaring that nothing but a war with Germany would insure the czar's life and throne."

"The empress was also opposed to the mobilization, and said:

"The terrible calamity must be averted at any price. There is some mistake about the matter. The mobilization, in any case, is not directed against Germany but against Austria, and if Wilhelm thinks otherwise he had been misinformed."

Pleads With Czar.

"Again, in pleading with the czar to heed the advice of the old Fredericksz, she said in English:

"Nicky, you call him sometimes an old fool; but he is not an old fool. He is more devoted to you than somebody else. Give the orders about the mobilization, Nicky, do it!"

"The czar seemed to vacillate, whereupon Sassonow turned to Fredericksz, saying:

"I have the courage to assume the entire responsibility. This war is inevitable and will make Russia stronger and more powerful than ever before. And you, a minister of the royal house, who should have at heart the interests of your sovereign, are willing to see him sign his death warrant, as the Russian people will never forgive him for bringing such humiliation upon the country."

"Suchomlinow and the grand duke were summoned to a conference with the czar and the next day, Europe was plunged into war."

Best Remedy for Stomach Trouble.

"I am pleased to have the opportunity to say a good word for Chamberlain's Tablets," writes Mrs. Mamie Bertel of Moberly, Mo. "I think they are the best remedy for stomach troubles, biliousness and constipation I have ever used. I have taken them off and on for two or three years and they always relieve indigestion, tone up the liver and make me feel fine."

BE TRUE

Thou must be true thyself.
If thou the truth wouldst teach;
Thy soul must overflow, if thou
Another's soul wouldst reach!
It needs the overflow of heart
To give the lips full speech.

Think truly, and thy thoughts
Shall the world's famine feed;
Speak truly, and each word of thine
Shall be a fruitful seed;
Live truly, and thy life shall be
A great and noble creed.

AMERICAN LEGION GETS ROOMING CONCESSIONS

New Orleans, June 17.—Doughboys, gobs and marines, who attend the American Legion national convention in New Orleans October 16 to 21, may obtain a "bunk" for $1.50 a day, as a result of an agreement between representatives of seven leading hotels and convention officials.

The hotel men have consented to establish a rate of $1.50 for rooms without baths and $2.50 with baths. This rate is based on a minimum of three persons to the room. If the service man prefers to dwell in solitary grandeur he will pay $4.50 or $7.50, dependent upon whether his room is equipped with a bath.

All reservations for hotel rooms during the five days of the convention will be made thru the forty-eight Legion state adjutants, who will forward the reservations to the hotels and housing committee of the convention.

PREHISTORIC RELICS

The national museum at Washington has recently placed on display an interesting collection of prehistoric pottery and other antiquities from Mexico. There are some 500 specimens, most of them are earthenware vessels that are considered remarkable for their symmetry of form and their artistic decoration. They came from burial places beneath the floors of ancient houses in the Casas Grandes (great houses) district of Chihuahua. It is believed that they were placed in the graves as mementoes of the living. With the pottery are stone axes and hammers, crude mills for grinding grain, ornaments of shell and brightly colored bits of stone etc.

Nothing is known of these prehistoric people except what has been disclosed by meager archaeological discoveries. Evidently they were swallowed up in oblivion long before the coming of the first Europeans. At the time of Cortez's conquest of the country nothing remained of their habitations except mounds of earth and stone so covered with trees and shrubbery that their real identity was hidden.

Teething babies always have a hard time of it when this process occurs in hot weather. They not only have to contend with painful gums but the stomach is disordered, bowels loose and the body uncomfortable. The best help you can give the little sufferer is McGe's Baby Elixir. It corrects sour stomach, cools and quiets the bowels and helps digestion. Price 35c and 60c per bottle. Sold by Ohio County Drug Co.

Farmers Mutual..... 59

FRIDAY JUNE 23

Henry Ford does not appear to be making much progress toward acquiring the Muscle Shoals project for the purpose of turning out fertilizer at 8 per cent profit. His offers have been denounced by members of Congress as in reality no offers at all, so to speak.

The Republican was overrun with last-minute orders for advertising space this week, even being forced to leave out some of the last orders.
The unexpected and late calls for space necessarily crowded our columns and curtailed space for reading matter. We strive always, of avoid this, but a newspaper, like the farmer "must make hay while the sun shines."

The elections just held in Ireland resulted in a large majority voting for ratification of the treaty making Erin a free State, with final allegiance to the British Crown acknowledged. Had it not been for de Valeria and a few uncompromising radicals this step could have and doubtless would have been consummated long ago. Viewing conditions from a distance, it would seem that if de Valeria and a few of his ilk could be gotten off of the Emerald Isle peace, much needed peace and prosperity might be the immediate heritage of the Irish people.

STRAY STREAKS

(By Fluke McFluke.)

We had a mess or two of roasting corn at our house this week. It did not grow in our own garden, but as Mrs. Martin has been absent from home for several days, and she has a real good garden, too, our wife said as how it would be such a pity to let all of that perfectly good corn get too hard to eat and as Mrs. Martin, as above stated being absent, Ranse has spent but little time at home, either day or night, so there was one of two things to do, viz: let the corn spile or, or—anyhow we've had corn to eat.

Jaller Nat Hudson is making himself quite a reputation along lines not connected with his official duties. Early in the spring just past, he swore to us that he saw a deaf man buying himself a graphophone or a phonograph, he would not be certain which, as he said he wanted to be right, and now a friend of his tells us that Nat lately told him that he saw a blind man picking out and buying a set of nice pictures to hang in his home, the blind man's home, we mean.

We got a twist of tobacco the other day, nearly. The only thing that kept us from being successful was the fact that Uncle Bill Johnson said he forgot to get it when he left home.

Kaiser Rial and Bat Nall both happened to be in this office at one and the same time this week and we nearly threw a fit through fear that some preacher-like, or respectable person would come in and catch those birds in our place.

We were down at the Herald office tother day and took note of the fact that they had just received what appeared to be a large boiler and a lot of pipe. Goodman was awfully nice to us and said that if we did mention the fact to do it in a way so that John Henry would not get on to it, as the weather was too hot to be bothered with that bird now.

We were in Louisville last week and went out with our friend I. D.
Claire for dinner. We remained with he and his family until about 9 p. m.
and on getting ready to return to our hotel for the night mentioned the fact that we were a bit doubtful of finding our way back without trouble.
Thomas at once suggested to the Mis-

sus that he would accompany us. We had barely gotten out of sight when John grabbed and hugged us like a bear, saying that it was the best and first excuse he had had for getting off to town for nigh on a year. We do hope though that Mrs. Thomas don't think we kept John out as long as we are afraid he stayed out, 'cause we went right to our boarding house and to bed. It looks bad for us one way and the other, but truth has ever been our motto and ever shall be.

The Race Victory at INDIANAPOLIS The Road Victory at WICHITA Help You Choose Tires

500 miles at 94.48 miles an hour—a relentless grind over a rough-finished, sun-baked concrete and brick pavement at record-breaking speed—that is the gruelling test Oldfield Cord Tires underwent successfully at Indianapolis Speedway May 30th. They were on the winner's car for the third successive year and on eight of the ten finishing in the money, upholding the confidence successful race drivers have in the trustworthiness and ability of these tires to meet the greatest demands of speed, endurance and safety. Their records in every other important race have been equally as good.

Consider this achievement along with another test of Oldfield quality made at Wichita, Kansas, this past winter and early spring.

34,525 miles on rutted, icy Kansas roads, running day and night on a Studebaker stock car without a single tire change. This test was made by a group of Wichita automotive dealers in a tire, oil and gasoline economy run. Mayor Kemp of Wichita was official observer and made affidavit to the mileage and service given by Oldfield tires.

You may never subject your tires to the gruelling experience of Indianapolis nor the steady grind of bad winter roads, but it is good to know you can get such safety and mileage economy by buying Oldfield tires. Ask your nearest dealer.

165% Increased Business
The buying public is the surest barometer of the value of any article. Their approval of Oldfield value has been demonstrated by the increase of 165% in business for the first five months of 1922 over the corresponding period of 1921.

Ashby Gains 20 Pounds Taking Tanlac And Says They Can't Ring The Dinner Bell Too Quick To Suit Him—Feels Like a Boy Of Twenty.

"Tanlac helped me gain twenty pounds and made me feel as well as I did when a boy of twenty," said W. A. Ashby, 1003 Commercial St., Petersburg, Va., foreman for the Petersburg Trunk and Bag Co.

"For three years my stomach was so disordered I couldn't eat a thing, not even milk and eggs, but what caused a heaviness and burning like fire in my stomach. Then my knees and ankles got so swollen up with rheumatism I could hardly hobble around. On top of all this I took the 'flu' and when I got up from that spell I was worse than ever.

"The watchman at the factory got me to taking Tanlac, and now my appetite is so keen they can't ring the dinner bell too quick. I never have indigestion and the rheumatic pains and the swelling have all gone. I will always bless the day I got Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflammation of the mucous surface of the Eustachian Tube. Catarrhal Deafness can be cured by Catarrhal Deafness. Circulars free. FINISH LONG FLIGHT

Capt. Sacadura and Coutinho, Portuguese aviators, have reached Pernambuco, thus completing their transatlantic flight from Europe to South America. Starting from Lisbon early in April they flew to the Canary and then the Cape Verde Islands. From the latter they tried to reach Brazil but were forced down near St. Paul's rocks in mid-Atlantic. Another hydroplane was sent to them from Portugal to complete the flight.

NO JAZZ FOR BRAZIL

The Brazilian International exposition at Rio de Janeiro recently suggested that the United States send it "a real first-class jazz orchestra, no jazz is not known in South America." F. A. Harrison, U. S. commissioner to the fair, replied that since "Brazil is a friendly nation it would be nothing short of an unfriendly act to introduce such so-called music to an unoffending people."

THE DRUGGED CONSCIENCE

"I noticed," said a well-known druggist to his assistant, "that it only took you three minutes to get up a prescription for that woman who just went out. What do you mean by that?"

"It was only a little carbolio acid and water," replied the assistant. "I simply had to pour a few drachms of acid into the bottle and fill it up with water."

"Never mind if you did have only to do that," the druggist declared, "don't you know that every prescription must take at least 20 minutes to dispense or the customer will think he isn't getting anything for his money? When a prescription is handed you even for salt and water or peppermint you must take it, look at it doubtfully, as if it were very hard to make up. Then you must bring it to me, and we will both read it and shake our heads. After that you go back to the customer and ask him if he wants it today. If he does, you answer that you will make a special effort. A patient appreciates a prescription that there has been so much trouble over, and when he takes it he derives some benefit from it. But don't you do any more of that three-minute business my boy, if you want to become a first-class druggist. It won't do. You have got to study human nature."

The roughneck politician burst into the lawyer's office and in an excited manner asked: "What would you do if a paper should call you a thief and liar?"

"Well," said the lawyer scrutinizingly, "if I were you I'd toss up a nickel to see whether I'd reform or pay no attention to the statement."

IT'S AN EASY MATTER TO SAY "THANK YOU"

When the telephone operator has been helping one through a difficult toll connection and the conversation successfully ended, it makes a favorable impression to call her up and say that you are much obliged for all her trouble—after having first ascertained that she is in condition to stand the shock.

Now the usual procedure in such a case is to take good-luck for granted as our due and to kick like steers when luck is bad. This is the worst kind of sportsmanship. It results, when ill luck does come, in feeling and behaving as if we were monstrously abused and persecuted; when, by dwelling on the small morsels of satisfaction, which come with every day and every hour, it is possible to store up enough serene temper to ride over rainy days.

To call up the operator and say we appreciate the courtesy shown is, first of all, good manners. After that, it is something more. It is an investment which pays inner dividends of a coin that does not tarnish.—Boston Globe.

BEGIN WASHINGTON MEMORIAL TEMPLE

Ground Broken For Magnificent Masonic Edifice Honoring The Country's Father.

Washington, June 17. (Capital News Service).—The first spadeful of earth has been turned on Shooters Hill, just outside of Alexandria, Va., where will be located the beautiful memorial to George Washington, the Mason, being erected by the Masonic fraternity of the United States.

Washington, as Master of what is now known as Washington-Alexandria Lodge F. A. A. M., left many relics of the most important historic interest. These, now in the possession of the lodge in the old Virginia city, will be suitably housed in the beautiful fireproof temple to be erected on a commanding elevation between Alexandria and Washington D. C.

The building is to cost two and a half millions of dollars, and is to commemorate the Masonic activities of The Father of His Country, who carried Masonic teachings into his every official act, and who gave an impetus to the Masonic activities of the United States which is still a guiding force.

The turning of the first earth was done by Louis A. Watres, of Scranton, Pa., who is president of the George Washington Masonic Memorial Association. The invocation was made by the Rev. Dr. Morton, chaplain of the association.

It is the plan of the association to erect a building which will be a Mecca for Masons throughout the world and one which will compare favorably in beauty with the Lincoln Memorial recently dedicated in Washington and the House of the Temple, magnificent home of the Supreme Council of the Scottish Rite for the Southern Jurisdiction, which has brought to Washington D. C., the boast of having the most beautiful fraternal temple in the entire world.

HARD ON THE CLOTHES

"Twas new clothes your husband wore to work this day, were they not, Mrs. O'Marra?" the section foreman inquired as he stopped by the O'Marra door.

"They was indeed, but the poor fool would wear them, instead of keeping them for Sunday," Mrs. O'Marra responded with an ominous frown. "What of it?"

"I am afraid they are ruined entirely," the foreman said regretfully. "Run over by a switch engine, they were."

"And how did Pat come to have off his clothes?" Mrs. O'Marra demanded in open-mouthed astonishment.

"He did not," the foreman responded briefly.—Country Gentleman.

COULDN'T FOOL HIM

A young country chap once got a job in a city grocery. He was very cautious in his new berth—they had told him at home that the city people would try to josh him because he was green. He kept a sharp lookout accordingly for joshers.

A sober old maid entered the grocery one morning. "I want some bird seed, please," she said.

The new clerk sneered and answered scornfully: "No, ye don't lady. Ye can't string me. Birds come from eggs, not seeds."

BACK FROM THE PAST

All women who claim to have "something a little different" from others, harken to the voice from old Egypt expressed in the person of Mrs. Emma Field, of Chicago. She's got it on you, all right. Though ignorant of that ancient art, she writes fluently in the drawings symbolic of the Ramesses. Scientists are using up that extra daylight saving hour to puzzle the thing out.

A woman was taken to see Niagara falls, and for a while she gazed in fascination as the great volumes of water swept unchecked over the rocks and fell into the whirling torrents below. But suddenly a look of agony passed over her face.

"Goodness gracious," she exclaimed. "That reminds me—I'm sure I left the bath tap running!"

"I hear you've sold your pig," said one farmer to another "What d'ye get?"

"What'd it cost you to raise it?" "Paid $3 for the shot, five for the lumber in the pen and house and five more for the feed."

"Didn't make much, did ye?" "No, but I had the use of the pig all summer."

FARM DEPARTMENT.

Drainage of Farm Lands Getting Ad- ded Attention.

Lexington, Ky., June 15.—With the decrease in the cost of tile, Kentucky farmers this year have shown more interest in the drainage of their fields than they have in any one of the past three or four years, according to Earl G. Welch, farm engineering specialist of the College of Agriculture. In line with this marked interest twelve demonstrations have been arranged by the college extension division on its many farms in 8 different counties of the State to point out the value of drainage to interested persons, he said.

Warr, Madison, Rockcastle, and Carroll counties each have two such demonstrations, while Muhlenberg, Hart, Webster and Jefferson counties each have one. Additional demonstrations probably will be arranged in cooperation with farmers in other counties in the near future.

"It is impossible to bring soil up to the highest state of fertility without good drainage," Mr. Welch pointed out in speaking of the projects. "When land is poorly drained or not drained at all, every quality necessary for a fertile soil is either wholly or partially destroyed. Poor drainage lowers the availability of all the plant food elements by preventing the proper circulation of air through the soil and prevents good structure characterized by the 'crumbiness' that is necessary for easy working of the soil and the development of plant root systems. It also prevents the proper decomposition of organic matter and the consequent formation of compounds of nitrogen and other elements which are available as plant food."

"Heaving, or freezing out of winter crops, also is favored by poor drainage. If poorly drained land has a slope, it washes more than soil that has good under drainage for the obvious reason that more water must be carried away by surface drainage. Many sloping lands have poor under drainage. A striking characteristic of poorly drained soil is a light, whitish or grayish subsoil, often containing brown or rust colored spots. The installation of tile drainage is the only remedy that can be applied to such soils."

Many Rented Farms Stress Need of Better Contracts.

Lexington, Ky., June 15.—More than one-third of the farms in Kentucky are operated by tenants, according to the 1920 census. Leasing contracts under which many of these farmers are operated point out the need in the State for more general use of contracts which will keep the land up in productivity and at the same time enable the tenant to make a fair profit and the landlord a fair rate of return, according to W. D. Nichols, head of the farm economics department of the College of Agriculture.

"One type of successful leasing contract is that which includes the joint ownership of hogs, beef or dairy cattle sheep and other productive livestock. The tenant furnishes all the labor and in most cases, the work stock and machinery. The landlord usually pays the service fees and owns a one-half interest in the colts. Poultry, up to a reasonable point, are owned by the tenant who gets the proceeds from the enterprise.

"The other net receipts are divided equally. The landlord furnishes the land and buildings, pays the taxes and insurance on them, in most cases furnishes the grass seed and pays one-half the other expenses excepting those for labor. Necessary minor repairs on fences usually are made by the tenant without charge, the landlord furnishing the material.

MRS. A. WALKER

HEALTH IS VITAL

Here is How to Take Proper Care of It

Covington, Ky.—"For a long time I have used Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for biliousness and constipation to my entire satisfaction. I have also recommended the same to other people who have later thanked me for telling them about these 'Pleasant Pellets'. Just take them according to directions and relief is certain."—Mrs. A. Walker, 1325 Banklick St.

Constipation is at the root of most ailments. You can avoid half the ills in life by taking Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Your neighborhood druggist has them in small vials, convenient to carry—easy to take. Price 25c.

"Quite often, the tenant does not have sufficient capital or credit to finance his half of the cattle, hogs or other reproductive livestock. Some Kentucky landlords have supplied this capital, securing it by taking a mortgage on the livestock and permitting repayment out of the tenant's share of the proceeds. When the tenant is an able, energetic and reliable man, this is an excellent plan and serves the interest of both parties. The tenant thus is encouraged to do his best and often will remain on the farm for several years."

"For several years, the college farm economics department has been making a study of leasing contracts and has succeeded in working out a number based largely on the successful experiences of Kentucky landlords and tenants. Copies of these may be obtained free by writing the department."

FRANKS OF REFLECTION

While painting pictures atop the historic old Baltimore shot tower, Howard Frech, local artist, was startled by the apparition of a man walking upside down along the tower wall. Investigation showed that opposite the spot where the uncanny vision appeared was a small hole in the wall through which the sun shone. Through this aperture images of persons passing on the walk outside were projected upside down. Following this the artist discovered still another freak of reflection. On one side of the wall is a shuttered window six feet above the sidewalk. In it is a hole one-eighth of an inch in diameter. Images of passers-by were reflected through it on the window pane in much the same manner as figures projected on the screen by a stereopticon machine. The "pin-hole" camera works on this simple scientific principle.

At SUNDAY-SCHOOL

"So you attend Sunday-school regularly?" the minister said to little Eve.

"Oh, yes, sir."

"And you know your Bible?"

"Oh, yes, sir."

"Could you perhaps tell me something that is in it?"

"I could tell you everything that's in it."

"Indeed." And the minister smiled. "Do tell me, then."

"Sister's bean's photo is in it," said little Eve promptly, "and ma's recipe for vanillin' cream is in it, and a lock of my hair cut off when I was a baby is in it, and the ticket for pa's watch is in it."—Argonaut.

WASHINGTON COMMENT

Every community in the country has some civic organization—Kiwanis, Rotary, Lions, Civitan, Optimists, Clubs, Chambers of Commerce, Boards of Trade, Commercial Clubs, Business Men's League, Woman's Club, Town Club—they are many in kind and all good in intent.

Sometimes they find themselves without worlds to conquer or abuses to correct.

Here is an example for all such to follow:

The Scottish Rite Consistory of Sioux City distributed, free, three hundred and forty-seven American flags to the public schools of its city. Each school received a large flag, and in addition a smaller flag for each room in the school.

The flag is responsible for the school. Had there been no flag, and all for which it stands, there would be no public schools and all the opportunity they offer to rich child and poor child alike.

The school is responsible for the flag; had we no schools, and no young men and women growing up in them, we would have no defenders of the institutions for which the flag stands, no men and women to glory in its red, white and blue, honor it, protect it.

Flags belong in schools. The school without a flag, to be seen every day and all day is under-equipped. If there are not seats enough children can, and do at times, sit on boxes. Where there are no blackboards, slates can be used. If there are not enough books, two or more can share a volume between them.

But there is no substitute for the flag.

Sioux City Consistory has pointed the way; every organization in every truly American community can follow with profit where they have led.

A woman in Georgia is under sentence of death for murder. The foreman of the jury which convicted her said the jury was convinced a cold-blooded crime had been committed and that there was no reason for clemency.

But from all over the State—aye, and from all over the country—come the usual protests whenever a woman is to be hanged.

It is an encouraging sign; some day the protest will be equally strong when the criminal is a man.

"An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth" was good law in ancient times; it is good law yet for frontiers for places and times where a man must defend his own with his own strength and wit.

But there came One with a new law. "Thou shalt not kill," say the lawyers, was never meant for governmental authority in modern states! One is tempted to wonder how they know.

But it is not upon Biblical, religious nor moral grounds that the protest against legal murder of either man or woman—is gradually gathering headway. It is upon the ground of common sense. If hanging was a deterrent to murders, murders would cease. If hanging is a revenge of the state (which it is not supposed to be), it is a very poor one; Indian and Inquisition and Chinese bandits can show much better ones! If hanging was an advantage to state or society, more men would be hanged!

Hanging—any death penalty—is uneconomic, unsound, degrading. The law allows visitor to the penitentiaries, but hides its legal murder from all except "official" witnesses.

That is another good sign; some day the thing now done under cover, although legally, will be as extinct in our civilizations as breaking on the wheel, the auto-de-fa and the iron maiden of the middle ages!

KENTUCKY CROP OUTLOOK

General crop conditions in Kentucky are shown to be 11.6 per cent above the 10-year average, in the June crop report for this state issued today by the United States Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates in cooperation with State Commissioner of Agriculture W. C. Hanna. The condition of crops in Kentucky June 1 indicated the production of approximately 8,644,000 bus. of wheat; 6,550,000 bus. of oats; 176,000 bus. of barley; 239,900 bus. of rye; 1,222,000 tons of hay; 3,943,000 bus. of apples; and 1,102,000 bus. of peaches. Compared with 1921 this would be an increase of 2,304,000 bus. of wheat; 983,000 bus. of oats; 32,000 bus. of barley; 59,000 bus. of rye; 95,000 tons of hay; 3,307,000 bus. of apples; and 1,022,000 bus. of peaches. Actual yields may turn out less or more than these estimates, depending on whether conditions are particularly favorable or unfavorable between now and the time these crops are harvested or gathered.

Reports on acreage and condition of tobacco and corn will be issued July 12.

The Kentucky crop this season in practically every part of the state gave promise of being one of the best in recent years, but as it began filling considerable red rust developed, and there was some complaint of poor filling and of lodging. Condition June 1 was 93 per cent compared to the 10-year average of 82 per cent. Acreage of oats is 8 per cent less than 1921, with condition June 1, 90 per cent compared to the 10-year average of 84 per cent. Barley acreage in Kentucky is about 2 per cent more than in 1921, and the condition June 1 96 per cent compared to the 10-year average of 90 per cent. Hay, of all kinds, was 90 per cent compared to 10-year average of 82 per cent. Clover hay acreage is 5 per cent greater than in 1921 and the condition 90 per cent compared to the 10-year average of 85 per cent. Alfalfa condition is 96 per cent and the acreage 6 per cent more than in 1921. Pasture is excellent in practically all sections of the state; and a heavy blue grass seed crop has been striped, about 650,000 bus. Hemp acreage is exceedingly small this year. Condition of apples is 70 per cent; peaches 82 per cent; pears 65 per cent; field peas and beans 90 per cent; cabbage 91 per cent; onions 92; blackberries 97; watermelons 86; and muskmelons and cantaloupes 87.

NEWSPAPER CLIPPINGS

Indianapolis Star—Beveridge is classed as a "practical progressive". That differentiates him from La Follette.

Washington Post—It is hard to understand why Mr. Bryan, who believes the Democrats will win next fall, doubts a little thing like evolution.

St. Joseph News-Press—At the present rate of consumption the movie press agents will participate a world shortage of adjectives within a few years.

Washington News—There isn't any low cost of high living.

Indiana Times—With Bryan telling the past and Doyle telling the future, the only thing doubtful is the present.

Financial America—If the Irish would only try peace once, they might like it.

Washington Post—The radio religious service will never be popular, because the women can't see each other's hats.

Indianapolis News—From the way things are going in the Chicago labor war, the munitions makers will soon forget the set back they got at the disarmament conference.

Cleveland Plain Dealer—Sir James M. Barrie told University of Glasgow students to "go through life without ever ascribing to your opponents motives meaner than your own." That'll be plenty mean enough, as a rule.

Nashville Banner—The modern girl can't have much malice in her heart. She is always so willing and ready to kiss and make up.

Waterbury Republican—A Chicago judge forced a wife-beater to kiss his wife's foot and to the credit of the lady she didn't kick when her husband did it.

Springfield News—The contending Chinese armies fought all day last Sunday, according to cable dispatches. The missionaries still have much work to do in China, it seems.

Detroit Free Press—The Birmingham Age-Herald wants to know if anybody possesses enough courage to get up in public and speak a word in behalf of the saxophone. Why, certainly. A saxophone can make enough noise to drown out a ukulele.

Toledo Blade—The Golden Rule isn't used enough to take the shine off.

"Don't you think long hair makes a man look awfully intellectual?" "It depends. My wife found a long hair on my coat-sleeve yesterday, and I looked a perfect ass."

Cake-Eater—That man you were just talking to is a mind reader. Flapper—Impossible. Why, I was just dying for some ice-cream all the time I was with him.—Legion Weekly.

CHILDREN VISIT WHITE HOUSE

About 1000 children, who had been caught in the rain at the Lincoln Memorial, were invited to serenade President and Mrs. Harding at the White House. Songs by the children, a speech by the President and a warm parting handshake all round made up, according to Mr. Harding, one of the nicest parties held in the White House under his administration. Said a foreign diplomat as he watched the army of children troop

Was Very Weak

"After the birth of my baby I had a back-set," writes Mrs. Mattie Crosswhite, of Glade Spring, Va. "I was very ill; thought I was going to die. I was so weak I couldn't raise my head to get a drink of water. I took . . . medicine, yet I didn't get any better. I was constipated and very weak, getting worse and worse. I sent for Cardui."

The Woman's Tonic

"I found after one bottle of Cardui I was improving," adds Mrs. Crosswhite. "Six bottles of Cardui and . . . I was cured, yes, I can say they were a God-send to me. I believe I would have died, had it not been for Cardui." Cardui has been found beneficial in many thousands of other cases of womanly troubles. If you feel the need of a good, strengthening tonic, why not try Cardui? It may be just what you need.

To Users Of Gasoline and Motor Oils

You've too much at stake in your motor equipment to be "spoofed" by mere claims about this or that thing in a gasoline or motor oil.

High-sounding technical terms don't insure you all the pep, power, mileage, safety and satisfaction you are entitled to
in a motor fuel or lubricant.

But the word "Standard" does. And that's why it is the buy-word and the stand-by of the biggest users of gasoline and oils everywhere.

You can't "spoof" the big users.
They know the dependability of the Standard Oil products and the responsibility of the Company back of them.

They know that if there were a better gasoline than New Crown or a better motor oil than Polarine, the Standard Oil Company would have it for them.

But "there aint no sich animal," no matter who says there is.

So good, so uniform, so dependable and so economical is New Crown

Gasoline that it is universally called
"The Perfect Motor Fuel." It's even better than the requirements specified by the U. S. Government.

New Crown is made right here in Kentucky by a Kentucky firm, the Standard Oil Company (Kentucky)
in its own refinery at Louisville, from which you get it fresh at all times—a firm that for 36 years has been a vital part of the business activities of the state of Kentucky and the economical life of its people.

Don't be "Spoofed"—Buy the "Always Reliable"

Standard Oil Products—New Crown Gasoline, Polarine Oils and Greases, back of which is a responsibility that is your guarantee of maximum pep, power, safety and satisfaction. And buy them from these, your own home dealers:
